

THE OLDER AMERICANS ACT

ORIGINS & PURPOSE

The Older Americans Act of 1965 (OAA) (P.L. 89-73) was signed into law on July 14, 1965 by President Lyndon B. Johnson. The Act was introduced by Congress as a result of the lack of availability and access to social services and supports for seniors in the community. Since the law’s enactment over 50 years ago, the OAA has served as the primary federal legislation supporting community-based social services for adults age 60 and older, as well as their families and caregivers. The law was most recently reauthorized by the Supporting Older Americans Act of 2020 (P.L. 116-131).

ADMINISTRATION & TITLES

The OAA has evolved and grown over time through prior reauthorizations and consists of seven titles today. Of the seven titles, all but one are administered by the Administration on Aging (AoA), a federal sub-agency established by the OAA within the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services’ (HHS) Administration for Community Living (ACL). At the state and local levels, OAA activities are carried out, respectively, by 56 State Units on Aging (SUA), over 600 Area Agencies on Aging (AAA) and thousands community-based organizations.

AoA, which is housed within ACL, is tasked with advocating for older adults and persons with disabilities and supporting them in securing and maintaining their health, well-being and independence in the community. The AoA is led by the Assistant Secretary for Aging – a presidential appointee – who holds a dual role serving as the Administrator of the ACL, as well, and is responsible for ensuring that OAA programs and policies are in alignment with the goals of the agency.

REAUTHORIZATION

The authorizing committee for the OAA in the U.S. Senate is the Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions (HELP) through the Subcommittee on Primary Health and Retirement Security. The committee that authorizes this legislation in the U.S. House of Representatives is the Committee on Education and Labor, specifically under the Subcommittee on Civil Rights and Human Services. Typically, a reauthorization of the OAA is considered every five years; however, the exact timeframe has fluctuated throughout its history.

The OAA has been reauthorized and amended more than 15 times since 1965. On March 25, 2020, the President signed the Supporting Older Americans Act (P.L. 116-131), authorizing the law for 5 more years, through the end of Fiscal Year (FY) 2024. Prior to this 2020 law, the Older Americans Act Reauthorization Act of 2016 (P.L. 114-144) was the last time in which a reauthorization bill was passed and signed into law, and it authorized the OAA for 3 years, from 2016 through the end of FY 2019.
